A BLUEPRINT FOR CPTED

What do Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design (CPTED) principles look like in practice? Small design changes like landscaping or maintenance can have major payoffs when it comes to protecting a facility.

NATURAL SURVEILLANCE

Establish clear sightlines from building windows and employee areas across the property.

DIRECTIVES

Clearly defining the rules and expected conduct within a facility helps drive positive behavior and lets staff quickly identify people who refuse to comply.

NATURAL ACCESS CONTROL

Use sidewalks, crosswalks, and other directional guidance to drive visitors toward the intended entrance.

TERRITORIAL REINFORCEMENT

Use fences, hedges, and signage to reinforce the message that the company's property is private.

SOCIAL MANAGEMENT

Adding community-building areas such as picnic tables or greenspace where employees can relax and socialize helps to encourage a sense of ownership of the workplace.

MAINTENANCE

Keep shrubs trimmed to below 2 feet, tree trunks clear up to 6 feet, and old lightbulbs changed out to build a sense that the facility is cared for.

ENCAMPMENTS AND PRP INVOLVEMENT

Peel Regional Police (PRP) has been working with the Region of Peel and other community partners to address concerns around the emergence of encampments in Peel Region.

The shelter system in Peel Region is significantly over capacity. In September, the Peel Alliance to End Homelessness, a community collaborative of agencies from across the region, advised shelter systems are in unprecedented demand with an occupancy rate of 260%. The gaps in affordable and subsidized housing, the influx of newcomers, the high cost of living, and other social and geopolitical issues have contributed to the growth of encampments in our community.

A recent case in Waterloo set a precedent that individuals residing in encampments on unused public spaces can only be forced to move in the presence of sufficient shelter space. The ruling was based on provisions in Section 7 of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms: '7. Everyone has the right to life, liberty, and security of the person and the right not to be deprived except in accordance with the principles of fundamental justice.'

PRP's Community Safety and Well-Being Services (CSWB) team has been engaging with habitants of encampment sites and working with community partners like Peel Outreach, Peel Addiction Assessment and Referral Centre, Services and Housing in the Province, and Peel 24/7 Crisis to coordinate support and resources, along with the City of Mississauga and other community partners.

PRP is committed to the safety and well-being of everyone in our community. We will continue working with partners to identify ways to support at-risk and homeless populations best.
